Executive Summary

Executive Summary

Objective: To improve sales and product performance.

Data & Approach: Analyzed 149,166 clean records (Jan–Jun 2023) using Miro, SQL, Excel, and PowerPoint. The dataset was cleaned and no duplicates or missing values were found. Focused on patterns by time-based, location-based, and product performance analysis.

Key Findings:

- Achieved 25.3% growth, peaking in Feb–Mar (+15.8%), with a decline of 11.7% in the latest period
- Morning sales (38.1%) and Coffee & Tea (56.6%) dominate revenue.
- Hell's Kitchen is the top-performing location with 34.7% revenue.

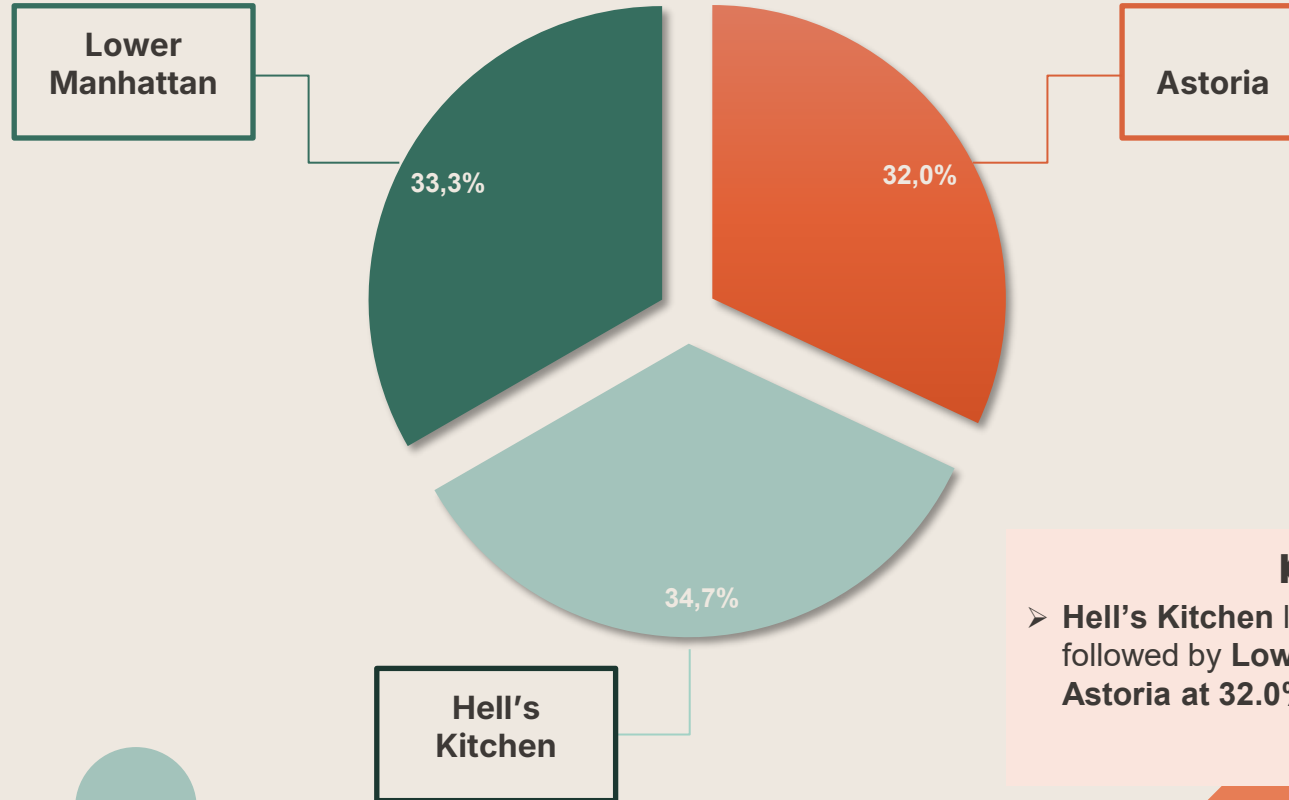

Recommendations:

- Run targeted campaigns during slow hours, stock more bestsellers; bundle and promote underperformers, use social media and geo-targeted ads to drive location-based engagement.

Recommendations

Location-Based Strategy:

- Leverage Hell's Kitchen's high traffic by increasing stock and bundling popular items (Coffee, Tea, Bakery).
- Introduce mobile carts in Lower Manhattan to boost visibility and access in high-footfall areas.
- Use geo-targeted ads and social media (TikTok, Facebook) to promote location-specific offers.

Product & Inventory Optimization:

- Bundle slow-moving items with bestsellers to increase turnover.
- Offer discounts on items expiring within 7 days to reduce waste and drive urgency.
- Focus on Coffee and Tea, which contribute over half of total revenue

Time-Based Promotions:

- Boost Saturday specials to counteract the Friday–Saturday dip (−4.1%) and ride the weekend growth wave (+4.0%).
- Capitalize on early-month spending trends with targeted promotions.
- Promote on Mondays and Fridays, aligning with peak customer activity

Customer Engagement:

- Utilize email campaigns to highlight key offers during peak hours and in top-performing locations.
- Run loyalty programs tied to high-performing time buckets (especially mornings) to retain and grow the customer base.
